BELIEVE BATTLE WILL DEVELOP INTO LONG STRUGGLE

Germans Attempting to Bring Up Artillery to Support Infantry

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, March 28—(Friday)—By The Associated Press—The impression tonight among the troops fighting along the front is that the battle will develop into a long struggle similar to those at Verdun and battle of Somme. The Germans are making strenuous efforts to bring their heavy artillery forward to support their infantry which has borne the brunt of the whole engagement thus far. It is considered probable that they will make another formidable rush with all their available reserves but the allied commanders view the future with confidence. They regard the situation as a general rule, satisfactory and believe that the only change will be toward improvement.

The Germans now occupy a sort of pocket in the Franco-British lines which leaves them open to flank attacks. For this reason they extended their attacking line to the eastward of Arras for the purpose of smoothing out a sharp salient, but in order to be successful they will be compelled to pay a heavy price.

They used up a larger number of divisions of their reserves than they foresaw would be necessary to make the progress they had already achieved, for instance the resistance of the British was unexpected.

The front now extends approximately fifty-five miles and the French occupy the line to within a few kilometers south of the Somme river. Everywhere the French and British are working in complete harmony, holding their occupied positions with wonderful tenacity. On Thursday when the Germans occupied a hill called Mont Renaud the intention of retaking it was expressed by a French general but a British general commanding a cavalry division requested the honor of attacking it which was given. The dismounted cavalrymen advanced to the assault, watched by their French comrades, and notwithstanding the most obstinate German defensive succeed in capturing the Hill and in holding it firmly ever since. The Germans were advancing in two directions namely toward Amiens and beyond Mont Didier, appear to have slowed down their efforts in the direction of Amiens and to have thrown the greater part of their force around Mont Didier, where however, they encountered determined resistance from the French who even regained some ground by counter-attacks.

A rough outline of the position today follows:

The French are holding strongly along the Oise canal and river. Thence southward of Noyon the front passes to the south of Lassigny and runs in an almost straight northwestward direction to the line of heights westward of Mont Didier. Then the line runs north thru Gratibus and follows the course of the River Avre. It goes by Hamel, crosses the Somme, near Sailly le Sec, passes westward of Albert and Beaumont-Hamel and afterwards rejoins the former British organization at Hebutmont, Bucquoy and Moyenville. It leaves the Cojeul river to the east and then joins the original front eastward of Arras.

Today all along the line the enemy has been trying to find a feeble spot without success. German divisions have seemed to give a heave of their shoulders here and there to test the strength of the defense and find the weakest spot against which to throw their greatest effort but they have always found stern resistance.

The morale of both the French and British troops is notably cheerful and they are confident under trying conditions. They seem to know that their turn is coming. The protection against German gas attacks has been efficacious.

It has been announced that the Germans intended to use something terrible in the way of gas, but nothing new has so far appeared. It was proclaimed that the Germans would use a swarm of tanks, but only one has been seen and that apparently was captured from the British at Cambrai. Small bodies of German cavalry have been observed in the neighborhood of Ham, Nesle and Peronne, but none have reached the front line. The dimunition of German aerial activity in the last few days probably is a sequel of his heavy losses in airmen, but their bombarding squadrons have been more active at night, especially in the vicinity of railroad junctions and stations. On the other hand the allied aviators are always about harassing the German gunners and infantry formations. Tonight as The Associated Press correspondent passed along the rear of the line, a heavy bombardment was proceeeding and the sky was illuminated with the flashes of guns.

W. H. MOSELEY AT FARM WORK AGAIN

Well Known Precinct Resident Says This Is First Time In Fifteen Years He Has "Made a Hand"—Nearly 500 Acres In Cultivation.

Farmers generally are regretting that there have been no more rains this spring, yet they acknowledge with one accord that the weather was never finer for getting work done on the farms. It is safe to say that more plowing has been done this spring and other farm work done during the month of March than has been the case in the same month for a long period of years. With so much of the plowing and planting work out of the way, when rainy weather comes and workers are kept from the field they will not feel the delay as would be the case under other circumstances.

W. H. Moseley of Pisgah precinct talking Saturday said that the rain is greatly needed for wheat, oats and pastures and that land would plow better if there were more moisture. However, Mr. Moseley remembers April is almost always a rainy month and some downpour in May is practically certain. This year Mr. Moseley has 190 acres planted in wheat, 110 in oats and is preparing the ground for 265 acres of corn. "Labor is mighty scarce you know, this year," said Mr. Moseley, "and that is going to be one great trouble on the farms. The fact is I haven't done much actual farm work myself for the past fifteen years but this year I am 'making a hand' because it is so difficult to get labor. It is a litlte hard to get out in the fields for long hours again but then you know the effort is in a mighty good cause."

SCIENTIST CHURCH SECURES PROPERTY.

A deed was placed on record yesterday whereby the First Church of Christ, Scientist, comes into possession of the Hayden property located at the corner of West State and Kosciusko street. It is understood that the church will do some extensive remodeling of the property, which will then be used for church purposes.

BULLETINS

COPENHAGEN, March 30.—The Taegliche Rundschau (Berlin) says that the agreement between Germany and Roumania regarding the petroleum industry will secure for Germany utilization of the Roumanian oil fields for ninety nine years and exclude all other countries. Thus Roumania will pay part of Germany's war expense, the monopoly being estimated worth millions of dollars.

WASHINGTON March 30.—Paul Pelz, who designed the congressional library and other public buildings, died at his home here today. He was 76 years old.

PARIS, March 30.—Miss Marion G. Crandell of Alameda, Cal., was killed Wednesday night during a German bombardment of St. Menehould. She had just returned to her room the soldiers canteen across the street where she was employed as a worker when a shell crashed thru her window. Several pieces of the projectile struck her in the head and face.

NEW YORK, March 30.—Madame Despina Davidovitch Storch, the young Turkish woman who was charged with being the leader of a band of German spies, taken into custody in this city a fortnight ago, died suddenly today in her quarters on Ellis Island, it was learned tonight.

LONDON, March 30.—The King left London Thursday morning, according to an announcement in the court courier and after visiting the troops on the western front returned to Buckingham Palace tonight.

AMSTERDAM, March 30—Advices today say that allied aviators have attacked the city of Luxemburg. Houses have been damaged.

LONDON, March 30.—A British destroyer struck a mine Wednesday and sank, it is officially announced. One officer and forty men were lost.

PARIS, March 30.Paris was again bombarded by the long-distance German cannon this morning. There have been few casualties.

Eight dead, among whom are four men and 37 wounded, including nine women and seven children, were the casualties resulting from the bombardment today.

WASHINGTON, March 30—The Liberty Loan bond bill was passed unanimously by the house tonight in virtually the same form as reported from the ways and means committee, which fromed it in accord with recommendations of Secretary McAdoo. It now goes to the senate which is evpected to pass it Monday.

BALTIMORE, Md., March 30—The Kennedy Foundry company in South Baltimore was badly damaged by fire tonight which is believed to have started by a German sympathizer.

The fire started in the casting room and spread to the pattern shop wher thousands of patterns valued at many thousands dollars were destroyed.

J. P. Kennedy, president of the company refused to say what the loss will be but it is estimated at over $100,000. The foundry is almost surrounded by machine shops and iron works engaged on government contracts and a guard was on duty.

ONE MORE RECRUIT FOR ARMY SERVICE

R. W. Kinnett Enlists and Sent To Jefferson Barracks—Recruiting Office May Be Changed.

Sergt. Stirling, recruiting officer at the postoffice signed one Jacksonville man for army service Saturday afternoon. Roy W. Kinneth of 722 Ashland avenue volunteered for cavalry duty and left yesterday afternoon for Jefferson Barracks.

Capt. Harris of Peoria, who is in charge of the local recruiting station, was here on a tour of inspection Friday. On account of the present recruiting station being rather inaccessible and out of the way it has been deemed advisable by Capt. Harris and Sergt. Stirling to attempt to secure quarters elsewhere in the city. However, there have been no government appropriation made for a recruiting station here and unless some property owner is sufficiently patriotically inclined to offer a room for this purpose, it is doubtful whether such a change could be made. If there are any vacant store room on either first or second floors in the city the recruiting officer would very much appreciate the matter if the landlord would communicate with him in regard to moving the recruiting station. It is believed that better results in a recruiting way would be reached by having the station in a more prominent location. As at present located, the army station is in the basement of the postoffice building, and a prospective recruit unacquainted with the building, probably would have difficulty in locating it.

Frank R. Elliott of Chicago is expected to arrive in Jacksonville this morning for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Elliott on West State street.

Mrs. William S. Elliott and little son, William Buckingham Elliott of Winnetka, are expected in the city Monday morning to spend Easter week with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Elliott on West State street.

Miss Lula Henderson was a shopper in the city Saturday.

WHEELS OF WAR MILL TURN SLOWLY ON BRITISH FRONT

Indications are That Speeding Up May Come Any Time

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, March 30.—By the Associated Press—The wheels of the war mill continued to turn slowly on the British battle front today, altho there are many indications that intense speeding up may come at any moment.

Just south of the Scarpe, near Arras, the enemy late this forenoon began a bombardment which might easily presage another assault on that city. It is written in the books that such an attack will come up to the latest reports there has been no infantry action. Further south on the British right there was hardly local fighting about Mezieres and Demuien, which was a continuance of yesterday's struggle, but the most important action seemed to be taking place on the French left where it was reported the Germans were pursuing their furious attacks.

Along the rest of the battle front comparative inactivity continued so far as infantry fighting was concerned.

This, then, was the status of affairs on the tenth day of the battle and while no one can foresee what trend such vast operations will take there are many things to support the following interpretation of the situation:

For two days past there has been a cessation along the major portion of the northern front of the bitter warfare waged at the outset. Undoubtedly this is in accordance with the German plans for it was impossible for the enemy to proceed further without pausing to bring forward his supporting artillery, reorganize his fighting forces and establish communication. These things now are being accomplished. The main factor affecting the operations is the question of time.

The crucial sector which in the opening days of the battle lay in the evicinity of Alberet, which the Germans hopet o use as a gateway to a westward advance, now appears to have dropped to the zone below the Somme. This is due to two reasons. In the first place the resistance offered along the northern front undoubtedly upset the schedule and plans of the German command. Finding their progress here too slow the Germans turned their attention to the southern sector, where they had continued their successes. In the second place the entrance of the French into the battle also raised a large problem for the enemy and gave the Germans a further reason for pushing hard below the Somme, in order to divide the allied armies if possible. The probabilities are that the Germans will continue to exploit their successes on the south The extension of the front of attack undoubtedly is due to the terrain which is restricted by the marshy valleys of the Avre and the Somme.

WOMEN CAN VOTE ON SCHOOL QUESTION

Have Right to Express Views on Community High School Plan—Boards of Educational Sometimes Identical.

The question of a community high school is now one actively before the people because of the petition filed with the county superintendent of schools asking that an election be held on this question. It has been stated that women probably could not vote on this question but an inquiry made yesterday at the office of the state superintendent of public instruction made it plain that because of an act of the last legislature women can now vote upon this question.

As previously stated, the district proposed in the petition filed comprises an aera extending about five miles in each direction from Jacksonville. While in most localities where township or community high schools are in operation the superintendent has no relations with the common school system in the nearby city, it is true that quite often the two boards of education have identical membership. In other cases where the entire membership is not identical a number of persons serve on both boards. When this plan is followed it is very certain that there can be no friction between the two boards.

MAJOR HOLLOWBUSH ADVANCED.

Mrs. J. H. Danskin takes pardonable pride in the record of her cousin, Major Joseph R. Hollowbush. Two years before the war began Major Hollowbush enlisted in the medical reserve corps and since the beginning of the war has been in charge of the hospital at Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, Ohio. For months past the operations there have numbered 8 to 10 per day and he has the record of not losing a single case. Major Hollowbush's work there is such that he has since been placed in charge of the Ellis Island hospital which the government will use for wounded soldiers brought from abroad.

A number of Jacksonville physicians know Major Hollowbush who is quite prominent in the medical world.

CONGREGATIONALISTS ACTIVE IN WAR WORK

Record for Past Months Shows Large Amount of Sewing and Knitting Done for Red Cross.

The women of the Congregational church have been unceasing in their Red Cross work and at this Easter time a summary of their work done in past months is of general interest. The women of the church were asked to make pajamas and they have followed out this program consistently and have made this their major work. The knitting began later in the summer than the other work and in the course of some weeks. Dr. Dewey bought a knitting machine for the making of socks and the women have had the use of this equipment. All the machine knit wrislets turned over to the Red Cross headquarters have been made by Mrs. Asa Robinson and finished by hand by other Congregational women, and this program represents no small amount of work. In the course of the months the treasurer has received the sum of $257.36 and nearly all this money has been used in the purchase of outing flannel for pajamas.

According to recent report the Congregational women have handed in to the Red Cross headquarters at least one third of all the pajamas received from Morgan county.

The Congregational service flag has individual distinction because the name of Miss Helen Carter was recently enrolled. Miss Carter is now a Red Cross nurse and a member of base hospital unit no. 14 on duty at Camp Custer. The summarized figures of work accomplished follow, and a splendid evidence is thus furnished of the continued and active interest of these women.

General Work.

161 pajamas (322 garments with card and handkerchief in each one.)
29 socks for bandaged feet.
18 dozen napkins.
25 dozen handkerchiefs.
10 hot water bottle covers.
23 hospital pillows.

Knitting Report.

439 pair machine knit wristlets.
29 pair hand knit wristlets.
22 mufflers.
69 sweaters.
5 helmets.
2 trench caps.
85 pair of socks, 23 machine knit, 162 hand knit.

In addition to the other work a housewife, fully equipped has been given to each of the persons on the service flag.

MISS DOROTHY LECK MARRIED IN TEXAS

Became Bride of First Lieutenant O. A. McCracken at San Antonio—Bride is Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Leck of West North Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Leck of 719 West North street received a telegram Saturday evening announcing the marriage of their daughter, Miss Dorothy Leck to First Lieutenant O. A. McCracken at San Antonio, Texas. Miss Leck left for San Antonio several days ago and the ceremony was said Saturday afternoon.

The bride was born and grew to womanhood in this city. She graduated from the Jacksonville high school in the class of 1915. She is a young woman of much charm of manner and many womanly graces that endeared her to a large number of friends who will unite in wishing her many years of wedded happiness.

Lieutenant McCracken is a native of St. Louis. He atetnded the public schools of that city and later took a course in architecture at Washington University, graduating from that institution several years ago. He engaged in business in St. Louis and at the outbreak of the war offered his services to his country. He is now engaged as instructor in the aviation branch of the service at San Antonio.

Lieut. and Mrs. McCracken will make their home in San Antonio for the present.

SPECIAL MUSIC AT STATE STREET CHURCH

The special music at State Street church today will be of more than usual interest, in accordance with the arrangements made by Mrs. Barr Brown. The quartet of the church, which includes Mrs. Barr Brown, soprano; Mrs. Truman P. Carter, contralto; John L. Johnson, tenor and Dr. C. B. Magill basso, will be assisted by Dean Cochran, violinist; Robert Shoemaker, baritone; Mrs. Hackett Wilder, soprano, Miss Mary Pribe, soprano with Miss Ruth Duncan at the organ. The evening service will be devoted altogether to music.

BANK WILL CLOSED AT ANNOUNCED HOUR

According to the announcement of the Elliott State bank in another column, this institution will follow the daylight savings law, and will open and close in accordance with the new time. C. A. Johnson, vice president of the bank, said Saturday that it is the further intention of the management to close the bank at 3 o'clock. After that hour customers will find neither officers nor employes on duty. Just as speedily as possible after doors are closed the record work for the day will be completed so that all those attached to the bank will be free until 9 o'clock the following morning. It is the custom in most cities to actually close the banks for business at the announced hour and the Elliott bank management believes that this policy will be for the best interests of all concerned here.

Misses Serena and Elizabeth Connolly of Murrayville were city shoppers yesterday.

LIBERTY LOAN QUOTAS JUST MADE KNOWN

TOTAL ALLOTMENT FOR EIGHTH DISTRICT $130,000,000

Morgan County to Take $773,250—Amounts for Various Counties Fixed on Basis of Bank Resources Campaign Opens Actively April 6

The county quotas for the third liberty loan were made public from the treasury department at Washington Saturday thru the federal reserve banks. Illinois is in the eighth federal district and announcement came from the federal reserve bank in St. Louis. The total allotment for this district is $130,000,000 and that for the Illinois counties in the district $18,158,050.

When figures from the second liberty loan campaign are remembered it is apparent that the district is not required to raise as large a sum as was actually subscribed in the second campangn. At that time the minimum subscription was fixed at $14,438,500, with a target mark of $22,058,000. The actual subscriptions were $22,813,053, and the number of subscribers 52,307.

District Quota $130,000.000

This time the plan varies to the extent that no minimum and target figures are quoted and simply an allotment is made. After the quota for the district had been fixed at $130,000,000 the federal reserve authorities made the state allotments on the basis of the bank resources. Then the county allotments were figured out on the same basis and each county is required to take in bonds 7½ per cent of the resources of the banks in the country as of Nov. 20, 1917.

As the country well knows, the liberty loan organization is now in full swing in the various federal reserve districts thruout the country, altho the actual campaign for subscriptions will not begin until next Saturday, April 6.

Edgar E. Crabtree, the chairman for Illinois, has spent a number of days of recent weeks in the preliminary organization work in St. Louis and will return to that city early in the coming week. Practically all of his time for the next month will be required in this liberty loan work. Miss Bess Bedden, who is secretary for Mr. Crabtree in the liberty loan work, went to St. Louis yesterday to remain thruout the campaign.

Local Figures

Morgan county's quota for this loan is $773,250. In the second campaign the minimum allotment for the county was $600,000, the target $1,000,000 and the actual subscriptions were $713,300. It will therefore be noted that the total for the third loan will be only about $60,000 greater than for the second loan.

The liberty loan organization is so well established thruout the country now that the work of selling $3,000,000,000 worth of bonds does not seem nearly so stupendous a task as was true when the first liberty loan campaign began.

MECHANICAL DRAWING IN SIGNAL SCHOOL

In connection with the engineering and technical side of the wireless course as given at the Signal School it has been found very desirable to teach the elements of mechanical drawing, as it is much needed by electical and mechanical men in any work. An elementary course will be given in such a way that it will not interfere with the regular school schedule. The directors of the school will greatly appreciate it if anyone who possesses any drawing implements not in use would loan them to the school. When the school discontinues they will be returned, or if lost or damaged they will be paid for. Anyone who wishes to loan same can telephone to the Chamber of Commerce rooms Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday or Friday evenings from 7 to 10 o'clock and make arrangements for the loan of them.

U. S. TRANSPORTS BRING SUPPLIES TO POILU FIGHTERS

Germans are Delivering Powerful Attacks Against French

Many American transport sections are at work bringing up supplies to the French who are engaged in a great battle in the southern section around Moreuil and Lassigny with the Germans who have delivered powerful attacks.

Balked in their efforts to make ground along the northern side of the salient, they have driven in the allied line, the Germans now are trying to break thru to the southwest and south. Along a front of 25 miles, from Moreuil, on the Avre river, to Lassigny, a tremendous battle waged all Saturday. The German troops are from the crown prince's army and are under the leadership of General von Hutier, who is sending his men forward in massed formation, one wave following the other without cessation.

The French troops have stopped the Germans and have counter-attacked with unvarying success. Correspondents on this section of the line declare that the French are using only a small portion of the reserves, holding the others for a powerful blow at the opportune moment.

Foiled at Arras in the attempt to take that place from the British and disorganize the northern British line and finding themselves able to advance only step by step at great cost in their thrust along the Somme toward Amiens, the Germans Friday night turned southward and hurled heavy masses upon the French in the Mont Didier salient.

It is here, from Moreuil, ten miles northwest of Mont Didier, in a curving line around the latter place and eastward to beyond Lassigny, nearly fifteen miles away that the battle was raging at last accounts.

Violent assaults were delivered upon the French lines which developed a powerful resistance and were further strengthened by the arrival of fresh reserves. The initial force of the impact however, was sufficient to drive the French back short distances at and near the point of the salient. Pushing westward from the branch of the Avre which runs in a northwestly direction from Mont Didier, the enemy forced his way into several villages within a stretch of about five miles along the front. The advance as shown by the locations of the villages announced as captured reached a maximum of about three miles in this sector. South of Mont Didier the wedge also was driven further in about two miles. Fighting at this point around Ayencourt, was still in progress late on Saturday in a heavy rainfall. The German aim here is apparently to drive westward from Mont Didier in a further attempt at cutting in on Amiens from the south.

The German line here however, is already considerably extended, the northern wing of the advance having by no means kept pace with the southern. It is possible that the impetuosity of the German crown prince who commands this group may be leading him too far.

If the push is intended to open a southward path of the Germans it seemed to be exerted too far to the west on the southerly line to win a way readily to the Oise where that river curves southwest from Noyon and flows on toward Paris. A possibility is that the Germans are attempting to stave off an allied counter blow, attacking themselves rather than stand still and be atacked on his their most exposed front.

On the remainder of the front the situation is virtually without change, so far as the official reports reveal.

American troops in France have greeted with exultation the news that they are to be given a part in the fighting of the great battle.

Further notable advances have been scored by the British forces in Mesopotamia and in Palestine. In the latter war theater they have destroyed several miles of the important point of Hedjas railway east of the Jordan, cutting off the Turks from communication with Arabia and their forces southeast of the Dead Sea.

John Brown, Jr., and sisters, Anna and Celia of Literberry motored to the city Saturday.

D. A. Gruenburger of the Emporium expects to leave for Chicago this morning to visit relatives and friends.

The great battle still seems far from termination and there is yet need of all the help America can give.

Paris seems not dismayed by the recent shelling. It is only a new story, and has aroused only a determination to win the war.

St. Louis, thru its Chamber of Commerce, has taken cognizance of the fact that the American public is largely divided as to the proper pronounciation of that city's name. The decision is that it should be broadly anglicized and called St. Lewis.

AVOID CONFUSION IN CHANGE OF TIME.

The success of the government's plan to conserve an hour of daylight depends upon the complete cooperation of every business and of every American institution. The plan is simple. Turn your clocks and watches one hour ahead and then forget that there ever was a change and go about as usual. If every agency, every office, every factory and every institution continues its hours after turning the clock ahead Saturday night one hour, there will be no reason for misunderstanding. Co-operation is patriotic and it will also avoid confusion.

MATCHING FAVORITES.

The grayhaired old northerner and the tall, lank southerner backed off after reading the morning bulletins in the Journal window.

"I don't see why the British don't flank those fellows, and get behind them," said the grayhead addressing the crowd at random.

"Neither do I," said the tall one. "If they had Robert E. Lee or Stonewall Jackson there, they would have had them licked long ago!"

"Yes, or Mr. Grant!" said the native Illinoisan.

It is repeated that Albert J. Hopkins will be a candidate for United States senator on the Republican ticket. Mr. Hopkins says Ex-Gov. Deneen will also be a candidate. The Republicans have plenty of good material, but the first qualification of a candidate should be his willingness to go whole-heartedly into a vigorous support of the war in order to push it to a successful termination.

ENEMIES IN AMERICA.

Enemy spies are responsible for delays in finishing the airplane program of the United States, according to Senator Overman, who says he has proof that German forces are active in this country.

Holes bored in the frames of airplanes, and lead poured in, have caused the frame work of the machines to weaken and collapse at the first trial.

The work has been done so cleverly that it was some time before the deception was discovered. Not until trial flights were made was it found that spies had been tampering with the air machines under the course of preparation.

The United States government has been too lenient with enemy aliens. They have not been watched as closely in some parts of the country as safety warranted. But Uncle Sam is beginning to find them out. His patience cannot last forever, and the time is close at hand when the department of justice will have something surprising to say to men who are not all loyal to this country. Speed the time when these spy plotters are placed where they can do no more damage. The nation cannot carry on to the best of its resources unless these hindrances are driven out. The time to strike is at hand.—Exchange.

A LIGHT WEIGHT.

The United States has a vice president. He made a speech in Wisconsin in which he made an appeal for Republican votes. It is represented that he referred to the Republicans as sewage. This is not a term that a vice president of the United States should apply to more than half of the voters of Wisconsin. He is vice president for all the people, but he is afflicted with the idea that he is vice-president merely of the Democratic party. The Galesburg Republican remarks that sewage is a filthy term to apply to the reputable men of any party, and it is astounding that the vice president should ever use such language. That the Republicans of that State will resent it goes without question, and it will be one of the factors in the election of the Republican candidate next Tuesday.

TO SAVE THE LIVING.

Major General March has told the senators at Washington why the war department decided to omit the addresses of soldiers killed or injured at the front, says the Decatur Review.

The principal reason is that it gives the enemy too much information.

It is mentioned by General March that in France no casualty lists are published, and this because the French wish to keep information from the Germans. It is to be remembered the French have been in this game a good while, and by now they should know it thoroly.

Something is said by General March about the publication of addresses as well as names causing a flock of claim agents to descend upon surviving relatives. Sometimes this is for the purpose of getting a commission on collecting a life insurance claim, and sometimes it is to get from relatives information about the front that the soldier may have sent home.

The claim agent in these cases is a nuisance and any money paid him is wasted. But in spite of this he will gather large commissions if furnished an opening. The relatives of many soldiers at the front feel themselves entirely hopeless when it comes to handling a matter of this kind. After the government has done all it can to discourage the claim agent he will still be found reaping more than is coming to him.

But the big purpose is to keep information from going to the enemy. This assists in saving the lives of other soldiers.

Carry On.

Have you bought two bonds or seven? Carry on! Go and buy another leven! Carry on! Don't remark "I am a beauty, I have surely done my duty, I have jarred the foeman Tuety." Carry on! Doubtless you've been doing splendid; Carry on! For your duty you've been doing splendid! Till the tyrant autocratic, who has blow flies in his attic, finds his kultur stalled, and static, carry on! What tho you've been digging dollars? Carry on! No one but a piker hollers. Carry on. Oh, the soldiers over yonder, they don't hesitate or ponder when they're told their blood to squander! Carry on! Till the armies cease their shooting carry on; till the Teutons quit their tooting, carry on; till the world is war-disgusted and the swords and spears are rusted, till your bank account is busted, carry on. Till the kaiser has ben crated, carry on; till our cause is vindicated, carry on; till our boys are homeward striding from the land where death is riding, having made a peace abiding, carry on. REMINISCENCES OF CHICAGO

The article in the Journal of yesterday regarding Chicago brings to the mind of elderly residents many reminiscences.

A young wagonmaker named Carter was moving westward, passed through the place and remained over night. The landlord of the little hotel learned that his guest was a wagonmaker or could make wagons and informed some of the residents and they called on the stranger and urged him to stay and offered several lots free if he would live there and open a shop but the ground was so low and unattractive he declined and moved on.

He reached Naples and started eastward when he arrived at a spot on which Exeter now stands and was so charmed with the surroundings that he decided to remain. He reared a family to do him credit: Corsair, Charles and Scott P. are well known in Jacksonville, but one is tempted to think what might have been the lot of the family had those lots been accepted and kept.

A young attorney named David Davis had a claim to collect for some eastern clients and took in return some lots in the Village of Chicago, but when he reported the fact to his clients they severely criticised the deed and were much dissatisfied. The young lawyer was so stung by their words that he managed to scrape together enough money to buy the lots himself. He wisely kept them and they were right where the north side waterworks were located and the owner died worth four millions.

Some crooks of the city secured some Wisconsin swamp at fifty cents an acre and unloaded it on unsuspecting tenderfeet at fifty dollars an acre. It proved to be good for cranberry production and was worth five hundred dollars an acre.

A prominent and very verdant Englishman visited this country and his coming was announced to a lot of practical jokers at various places. Arriving in New York he asked where he could see some wild buffalo in their native haunts undisturbed by man. They took him to a park and gravely showed him about and sent word ahead of his coming to other cities and he wrote back glowing letters of the wonders of uncivilized and primitive America and his friends took the tales all in. He reached Chicago at the time they were raising the whole place three feet to get it out of the swamp and he told the friends about that but it was too much for them and so the only true part of his narrative was the undoing of it all.

It is probably known to many that a good deal of the east part of the city has been taken from Lake Michigan. They go out into the lake which is not deep, and drive down trunks of trees, two rows a few feet apart, fill in between them to make them solid and water tight and then the space between them and the shore is filled and that much more land secured. In this way a good part of Holland has been made.

A great feat was Chicago drainage. The sluggish Chicago river ran thru the city into lake Michigan and it was deepened, turned backward, a part of the lake sent through it and the sewage sent to the Gulf of Mexico.

The driving ways of Chicago and the efforts of her people to attract others have ever been proverbial. Two young men were close friends and classmates in Yale college. One settled in Boston and one in Chicago. In the course of years each had a grown son. The Chicago man's boy went to Boston charged by his father to call on "George" which he did and presented his card reminding him of the early friendship of years ago.

"Ah, you are John's son. Glad to see you; hope you are well; I attend the Old South church; come there next Sunday and sit in my pew."

The young man didn't go.

George's son went to Chicago and called on John.

"So you're George's son. Well, now I'm right glad to see you. Sit down a few moments. Now we'll go and have dinner. This afternoon I'll show you around the parks; tomorrow I have business in Milwaukee and we'll go up by lake and next day we'll go to the stock yards and next we'll go—"

"Hold on. I expect to be here only a day."

"Can't hear to that."

And he's in Chicago yet.

A young merchant of this city made his first visit to St. Louis and entered a house of which he bought quite a lot of goods.

"Glad to see you. What can we do for you today? Take your order for your needs. Come and see us when you're in the city."

He went to Chicago and entered a wholesale house there. The clerk put the junior partner on him. The partner took him to dinner; entertained him all the afternoon and would have done more had he waited longer and it is natural that the house secured his trade.

COMMISSION FORM OF CITY GOVERNMENT
(By W. N. Hairgrove.)

When a person starts for a place on a trip they frequently do not know every crook and turn in the road they are to travel, but they ought to have an idea of the general direction of the place of their destination.

In government in the United States we have a constitution which has now been followed for almost one hundred and fifty years, and it is a wonderful article. It does not go into details of proceedure but lays down general principles and, while we "outgrow" state constitutions, no one says we have outgrown the federal constitution. It does not cover every foot of the road but gives us the general direction to travel in this form of government—that is where the people elect their officials—and if the fundamental principles of government laid down in the federal constitution are preserved to the people in other branches of government than the electors—the people who vote—will have a check or balance on the people they elect to office so that they can make the peocials serve instead of boss the people so they will represent instead of rule the people.

This is provided in the federal constitution for a congreses to be elected by districts by direct vote, to represent the people of that district in federal government. Senators to represent other districts, called states, and a president to represent all the people. Laws to become effective must have the endorsement of a majority of the representatives of the people in the lower house. A law, then must have a majority of the representatives of the States in the Senate, and after all that the President may approve and it becomes a law or veto and it fails to become a law—so it has three departments to check or weigh and balance it by amendment or veto to protect the public.

Similarly the States of the Union have a lower house of representatives an upper house or state senate and a governor with the veto power, three departments for checks and balances. Then we had the City or Municipal government; in the State of Illinois and by it the districts or wards had representatives and the whole city had a Mayor with veto power to check and balance the law making power, carrying out the representative idea of government as established by the federal constitution. That form of City government existed many years—the form while fundamentally American and representative did not always bring good government, because crooks sometimes get into office andparty-politics in some places was so strong that the crooks by controlling the party machinery stayed in office. But the fact that they stayed in merely certified to the ignorance of the voting animals; for every year they had a chance at the polls to kick half the Council out and every two years to wipe the platter clean so if the voters did not clean up, it was their fault, the opportunity was offered.

The City of Galveston in the State of Texas in the year 1900 had a great disaster—a tidal wave and great storm swept the city. It was in a state of devastation, thieves were plundering vandals destroying. Its conditions were almost those of a City of Belgium at this time—the government was broken—three stern shrewd men of the city in this emergency without color or lawful authority took control of the city as a "Commission" and by their skill and ability they brought order out of chaos. The courts of Texas declared their procedure unlawful, but the results were so gratifying that the Texas Legislature by its act created a form of government in conformity with this unlawful authority used, and called it the "Commission Form of Government". So thru the unlawful conduct of these men in Galveston who in an emergency, or war measure took power of governmentt without representing the people, this harsh power of governmnet without representing the people, this harsh power of unrepresentative government was fostered by law into American government. By it all, power is vested in the general government. Each man is elected at large—no power of veto no check or balances. Three men with power to control; an autocratic power. Sure some powerful government in a Republic or people's government.

Suppose, for instance, that the United States by appointing Hoover as Food Administrator as a war measure; that it developed that a regulation of food to the people improved in some places existing conditions and it was a benefit to the health of certain people to have meatless days and becauss it did improve and benefit them, the legislalature of the State of Illinois should pass a law in normal times for a food administrator or regulate the food supply and diet of the people of the State of Illinois.

Would such action meet with the approval of libertty-loving people? In war imes and in other emergencies such things must be done that under normal conditions would not be tolerated and so because the Commission Form of Government, in the emergency of Galveston, proved efficient, is not a good reasin for using it under normal conditions.

But the statute of this State gives other powers to the commission whereby the voter for officials of government hashis rights taken from him under certain conditions to vote for or elect public officials. I will tell you about it soon.

With greater stars than he has ever used before—Conway Tearle, Violet Heming and Wilfred Lucas; with the work of one of the world's greatest authors to base his picture on—Sir Gilbert Parker, and with his own genius fully ripened and spurred on by an ambition to produce something that would stand as an eternal monument to his genius. Mr. Blackton has produced a picture that is more than a film—it is an opportunity.

SUPPLYING AMERICAN FORCES GIGANTIC TASK

Complicated Organization Necessary In Keeping Men at Front Supplied With Food and Clothing—Task of Providing White Bread is Great Industry.

Behind the American Front in France, March — (Correspondence of the Associated Press)—Less spectacular than the continued arrival of American troops and their occupation of a definite front sector, yet in its way quite as important for their success, has been the steady development of the intricate system of keeping them in all the hundred and one supplies that they must have.

Public attention of course has been mainly riveted on two things—the arrival of the troops themselves, and the arrivals of their supplies. Pace by pace with the increasing training camps there has grown up a storage, transportation and distribution system that not only accurately and efficiently supplies the needs of all our soldiers. But that is continually being enlarged against future needs. Neither troops nor supplies can come too fast for it.

The various functions of the system—bakery, refrigerating plant, warehouses for clothing, non-perishable foods and similar supplies, and the main distributing plant—are located for convenience sake in three towns or cities situated at the three corners of an obtuse triangle, and near eonugh to the training camps and front so that supplies can reach the farthest points in 24 hours.

An ever-increasing force of men is employed in the task of keeping the fighting man supplied with all he needs. How well they succeed is attested to by the splendid physical condition of the troops in camp and at the front.

No link in the chain between "a Port in France" and the American front is ,perhaps, more interesting than the bakeries. When the troops began to arrive last summer it was announced that they would be the first soldiers in Europe to receive white bread. Europe read the announcement with astonishment tempered by envy, tho America probably thought little of it.

For a time the troops, however, had to eat the dark French bread—until bakeries could be established. Then, when a few field ovens had been set up a short distance behind the camping-training line, the men began to get their pure white bread. But the output required for the first arrivals was relatively small, and imposed but little difficulty either on the bakers or on transportation.

Not only has all that changed, but the task of supplying the American troops in France with white bread has become a genuine industry—which is growing all the time. The few bakers originally here have grown into companies, the relatively small daily quantity of bread turned out in July has increased to scores of thousands of pounds—to give the exact number might be a key to the number of troops being fed—and entire shiploads of flour are arriving weekly and are being stored away in warehouses with capacity of millions of pounds, as a reserve against the arrival of still more troops.

The site originally selected for the baking industry was obviously selected by those who appreciated that it soon would develop to large proportions. The American army first took possession of a huge bakery in a central French city, formerly operated by a German, it is interesting to note, and having a capacity for storing one million and a half pounds of flour in addition to a not inconsiderable daily output of bread from its coke ovens.

For the moment this establishment was more than ample for the needs of the first troops, but those making the arrangements knew that the time would soon come when the city bakery would be inadequate. So then went outside the city and leased from the French a tract of land consisting of several thousand acres upon which the conventional military wooden shacks soon sprang up—and where there is room for an indefinite number of additional field bakeries as the need may arise.

By the time the city bakery had reached its capacity, the shacks were fully equipped with the very latest in baking machinery, while alongside of each building where are operated the mixing and kneading troughs there had been installed rows upon rows of field ovens that open conveniently a few feet from side entrances to the shacks, so that the kneaded loaves may be passed directly into place over the fire.

The American authorities early foresaw probable difficulties in the way of procuring a steady supply of coal and decided from the outset to use only wood, for which the ovens were accordingly arranged. A large detachment of engineers was assigned to assist the bakers, and today furnishes a daily carload of wood for each of the baking companies. Additional engineers have arrived just as fast as have been needed, and the reserve supply of wood on hand makes the plateau-like baking camp resemble a felled forest.

One of the first concerns of the officers in charge of the bakery was to provide with railroad facilties and to this end spur tracks have been constructed out to the field from the city. Over these tracks whole carloads of bread leave each morning and afternoon for the training camps and the front.

Each baking company, tho supposed only to have an output of 30,000 pounds a day has for some time been exceeding this limit and has been turning out from 33,000 to 35,000 pounds. The men, 101 to a company, work in two 12-hour shifts, alternating week by week in day and night-work. Their product, chiefly great, round, hard crusted loaves, constitutes about 40 separate shipments that are made daily—by train, motor truck and horse drawn vehicles. The loaves are very hard on the outside, to protect the bread as it is transported, but are soft inside. No soldiers' bread is more than 24, in rare instances 36, hours old when he gets it.

The bread is supplemented by biscuits and rolls to vary the monotony at breakfast and supper, rolls that please the taste of one who has been months or years in Europe without his favorite American white bread. All products of the bakery is made as in ordinary times at home, except that sugar—one and one-quarter, pounds to 100 pounds of flour—is now omitted. The ingredients here are flour, water, salt and yeast.

Shipments of these ingredients are arriving very regularly and satisfactorily, the commandant of the bakery told the correspondent as he opened the door of a reserve magazine or shack where considerably more than half a million pounds of flour, most of it the high grade product that quality and clever advertising have made popular, is stored.

In the city itself the Americans found one of the largest refrigerating and meat storage warehouses in France, and absorbed it last July even tho it was then many times larger than their needs. Its capacity is close to two million pounds, and while it has at times been full or nearly full, the suppy is never permitted to fall below half a million pounds. There are more than 600,000 pounds there now.

Direct rairoad lines lead not only from the bakery and the refrigerating plant to the camps, but also from the seaports and the city so that there is a constant stream and uninterrupted flow of material into town as well as out.

Several miles westward, at the lower apex of the triangle, lies another French town which has been all but bodily taken over by the Americans as a storage center. Here everything that comes under the head of non-perishable foods—canned goods, salt, sugar, vegetables, other than those bought fresh from the French peasants—is stored in huge quantities against the time of need.

One of the largest buildings which the Americans have taken over is devoted to equipment. Here are stored thousands upon thousands of uniforms and every article of clothing from shoes and caps down to buttons and handkerchiefs. The supply is not only large enough to meet all the re-equipment needs of the troops, estimated at several pairs of shoes a year and at least three or four uniforms, but also to outfit all the newcomrs who may arrive.

The bakery and cold storage plants at one apex of the triangle and the storage houses for clothing and non-perishable goods at another apex are all permanent sources of supply, whereto materials and goods come in huge quantities and whence they leave in bulk. At the third and upper apex is the "separator" into which everything flows, where it is split up and parcelled out and from which it is sent in large and small lots according to the needs of this or that camp.

Here a complicated organization has grown up which, with endless freight cars, motor trucks and horse drawn vehicles at its disposal, seizes the bulk goods as they arrive, divides it into the requisite shipments, and is responsible for their arrival at camp behind the front.

The men who are doing all this work have long hours—none of them is on duty less than 12 hours and most of them work longer—and what they do lacks the zest of the spectacular without being entirely free from the dangerous features of warfare. Minus the popular acclaim which the fighting soldier gets, they are steadily and earnestly making the latter's task possible, and in their own way doing their share to win the war.

RESULT OF BRITISH HEALTH INSURANCE ACT

London, March.—One result of the British Health Insurance Act, which provides free medical attendance in return for a small weekly assessment, has been to make some of the official physicians very prosperous. This fact, shown in the annual report of the London Insurance Act committee, is in marked contradiction of the gloomy prophecies of the doctors when the law was under discussion in parliament, most of the professional testimony then being to the effect that it would "beggar" the medical men of the country.

London doctors during the last five years have received over $11,000,000 under the health insurance scheme. In one case the sum received was over $15,000 a year; in three other cases, over $10,000, and in 33 other cases over $5,000 a year. This is in addition to whatever the physician may earn through his regular practice.

In the same period the official druggists have averaged over $500 a year from filling prescriptions. The London committee's report speaks of the "medicine habit" as very prevalent in the London district. "If only people could be converted from the medicine habit," says the Committee, "much good might be done with the money in other far more useful directions."

DEARTH OF BLACK CLOTH IN ITALY

Rome, March.—Pianos, American breakfast foods, oatmeal, leather house slippers, cast iron kitchen utensils, tea and plumbing materials are among the scarcest articles in Italy. Durable cloth with fast dyes, particularly coat linings and mourning goods, is also difficult to obtain. It is not an unusual sight to see long lines of Catholic orphan girls clad entirely in red, instead of black, walking in the city parks. So great has been the demand of black goods for mourning and so poor is the quality of the article now on the market that it is preferred to buy red good cloth made before the war despite its flashy color.

PARTISAN FEELING STRONG IN ARGENTINA

IS MANIFESTED WITH UNCOMPROMISING BITTERNESS THRUOUT COUNTRY—GOVERNMENT EMBARRASSED BY FINANCIAL CONDITION

Buenos Aires, March.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Seldom has partisan feeling run so high or been manifested with such uncompromising bitterness in Argentina as in the year 1917. The triumph of the Radicals at the freest elections ever held in this country put that party into power in 1916 for the first time after a militant campaign of nearly thirty years.

The political opposition to the Irigoyen Government has been supported by the leading organs of the metropolitan press, while the one official government newspaper has repelled with great vehemence what it considers malicious attacks against the party.

In Congress the Radicals, of ruling party, have been and still are in the minority, members of the other political parties sinking their own differences and finding a contact and a bond of union in opposition. Even the Socialists have joined hands with the Conservatives on more than one occasion. The Socialists see in the democratic tendency of the government a danger to their self-constituted mission as friend of the workingman and protector of the poor and so have kept up an implacable hostility.

The leaders of the Radicals long before the advent of the party to office, made no secret of their aspiration to "intervene" in the government of the Province of Buenos Aires, so no one was surprised when the President sent his personal representative to take over the government of the province from the governor who had been elected by the people of the province. Since that time, the national government has intervened and taken over the state government of five other provinces, Corrientes, Tucuman, Mendoza, Jujuy and Cordova, so that six of the fourteen provinces of the republic are now being governed by personal representatives of the President.

The fact that most of these interventions, including that of Buenos Aires, were decreed during parliamentary recesses has given rise to the charge against the President of political sharp practice, it being affirmed that he has violated the spirit of the Constitution though respecting its letter. The Constitution provides that Congress shall sanction such interventions in the state governments except when it becomes necessary to intervene during a congressional recess.

The government has been embarrassed by the financial condition of the country, the administration being called upon every two or three months to make expenditures to pay the interest on debts left by the last administration. Several measures have been taken in the last few months for stabilizing the financia lcondition of the republic and once this question has been settled, it is expected that President Irigoyen will be able to meet the other problems which are facing him.

New York, March.—The German government is about to commandeer all stocks of fall vegetables excepting those affected by delivery contracts, according to the Cologne Gazette of February 2. "This action," explains the Cologne paper, "denotes a complete change in the system observed last year. Spring vegetables will not be seized but maximum prices will be established."

TO SIMPLIFY WRITING OF CHINESE CHARACTERS

Philadelphia, March.—A movement to simplify the writing of Chinese characters which will mean much to the 10,000 newspapers in in that country and to all the people as well, is on foot in that country, according to Bishop Wilson S. Lewis, of Shanghai, who attended the recent anual meeting of the Philadelpia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church.

The movement has been started by the Chinese government, Bishop Lewis said, the aim being to so reduce the time required to learn to read and write that a boy, who must study until he is fourteen before he is able to read the newspaper may get sufficient education for that purpose by the time he is eight.

RED CROSS EXHIBIT ATTRACTS GREAT THRONG

Display at Public Library Indicated Work Done by Women of Morgan County.

To many of the visitors who thronged the Red Cross Headquarters Saturday the work displayed was a revelation. Planned originally as an Easter sock drive—the idea being to secure a fine shipment as an especial Easter offering to our boys at the front—the exhibition Saturday had been broadened to include all the knitted goods, hospital garments and Belgian refugee clothing as well. And it was a splendid display reflecting great credit on the women who for six months have steadily been working thru the Red Cross. All the knitting sent out from the Jacksonville shop is sent to Central Division Headquarters, Chicago, when it is sent out to the camps and abroad to France. At the present time our socks are being sent as rapidly as possible to the boys in France where they are so urgently needed. Many knitters have received letters from boys in the trenches acknowledging socks sent out thru the local shop.

The refugee clothing exhibit attracted much attention with its gay little comforts made of bits of outing flannel, the tiny pink bootees and hoods and the warm little knitted petticoats. It was not difficult to imagine the joy they will bring to the hearts of the needy French mothers.

Altho there had been no especial drive for hospital garments there were shelves piled full of outing pajamas, bed shirts, bed jackets, convalescent robes and underwear, made and contributed by groups all over the county.

To many who saw the display Saturday it was a revelation to learn that all the work there represented only what had been received during the past five weeks—and more than 600 pairs of socks and more than 300 sweaters were on display.

Knitting Begun in August.

When one considers that the knitting has been organized only since August, and that it meant the establishing of certain Red Cross standards among knitters scattered all over the county, it seems almost incredible that such a mass of work could have been done and such splendid work. More than 1500 individual knitters and many groups have had yarn freely given thru the Red Cross, have learned to knit according to directions, and have turned in acceptable work. Not a single knitted garment has ever been returned to the local shop from Chicago. The standard early set by the Knitting Committee has been lived up to—all work must be the best and all work must be acceptable before sent out from Jacksonville.

Since September first the local Red Cross has sent to Central Division Headquarters the following articles:

Sweaters	3,052
Mufflers	465
Socks	2,671
Wristlets	1,393
Helmets	297

(Of these totals the Branches have sent in 709 sweaters, 224 mufflers, 729 pairs of socks, 286 pairs of wristlets and 35 helmets. Chapin, Concord, Franklin, Literberry, Lynnville, Meredosia, Murrayville, Waverly and Woodson now have flourishing branch organizations.)

So far as the Knitting Committee knows, the largest record of individual work has been made in sweaters by Mrs. Edgar E. Crabtree, who has knitted fifty-two sweaters, 47 of which have been turned into the local shop. Mrs. W. H. Palmer is second having knitted 26 sweaters all of which have been sent thru the Jacksonville Red Cross.

In sock knitting, Mrs. J. W. Lowdermilk has the record, having knitted 125 pairs of socks, 100 of which have been turned in at the local Shop. Mrs. Sarah J. McFalls has the next highest record with 107 pairs of socks, 80 pairs of which have been sent thru the Jacksonville Red Cross. Mrs. F. S. Hayden and Mrs. W. F. Brown hold the record for repair work.

The socks which were on display Saturday represent the type of sock for which the committee has been working during the past six months. They are made primarily for trenchwear and must therefore be larger than the ordinary sock, allowing for shrinking, must be loosely knitted so that they will be elastic, must be smooth and free from ridgefis and must be finished with the new Kitchener toe. All of the 600 pairs of socks complied with the Red Cross standards and will therefore give comfort to the wearers. To Mrs. David W. Reid and her committee who have worked tirelessly during the past weeks are due great credit for the splendid exhibition.

The Sweater Record.

In addition to the various kinds of sweaters which were displayed on forms, 338 were tied in bundles of five and packed in boxes ready for shipping. Mrs. E. E. Crabtree and her committee has had charge of this branch of the work.

Several special features of the exhibition which attracted considerable interest were the demonstrating of the knitting of two socks at once on the same set of needles by Mrs. J. W. Lowdermilk, the demonstrating of the knitting machine for socks and of the wristlet machine. Mrs. Lowdermilk was kept busy explaining the intricacies of the double-sock-knitting, having worked the method out sucessfully herself.

The knitting machine owned by Mrs. Capt. Frank Taylor and very generously loaned for Red Cross purposes has been operated during the past few months by Mrs. Asa Robinson. Of the total of 1393 pairs of wristlets sent out from Morgan county, more than 600 have been knitted by Mrs. Robinson on this machine, and then turned over to the ladies of the Congregational church for finishing. Mrs. Taylor was present during the afternoon and with Mrs. Robinson explained the machine.

The sock machine which is the property of Dr. Grace Dewey has been used for knitting of socks under her direction. Several pairs of socks the tops of which were machine-made and the feet hand-knitted were shown with the machine.

That knitting of socks is not at all confined to adults was evident from a group of children who were all busily engaged in knitting socks. The youngest of these Rhoda Rammelkamp, aged 9 years, was knitting her first sock. Philip Shambaugh, age 13, her cousin from Chicago, was knitting his first sock and was authority for the statement that every boy in his grade had knitted a pair of socks for the soldiers. Margaret Piepenbring age 11, Carol Landers, 14, and Mabel Rogers, 14, were busily plying their needles. All of these girls have knitted several pairs of socks for the Red Cross.

Two children from the School for the Blind attracted much attention, Elizabeth Opremchak and Gertrude Miller who were doing beautiful knitting.

A beautiful afghan made of colored squares knitted by the children on Saturday afternoons under the direction of Miss Esther Davis and Miss HelenAllcott attracted much attention. The following little children were knitting on their squares Saturday: Francis Plouer, age, 7, Edna Aldrich and Elizabeth Graff, age 7.

Several pairs of bed-socks knitted by Mrs. Frank Elliott on a Liberty Knitting frame were unique and attracted much interest.

Morgan County has at least one man who is knitting acceptable socks—Mr. Ezra Scott, a Civil war veteran, who has been knitting for the local Red Cross. Mr. Scott was present during the afternoon busily knitting

The Knitting Department.

Miss Margaret Brown and Mrs. Heinl who have had the general supervision of the work speak in glowing terms of Morgan county knitters. The response of the women to all appeals from the knitting committee, their eagerness to help, and their steady interest—for many have been knitting constantly since summer—and the many sacrifices of time and strength that have been made in order that our boys at the front can be kept warm and comfortable show a spirit in keeping with that which dominates our splendid youth over there.

The Knitting Department includes at the present time the following:

Chairman—Mrs. Frank J. Heinl.

Vice Chairman—Miss Margaret DeM. Brown.

Buyer—Mr. T. M. Tomlinson.

Branch Bookkeeper—Miss Lena C. Engel.

Sweater Inspection—Mrs. E. E. Crabtree, chairman, Mrs. J. W. Hairgrove, Mrs. Frank J. Waddell, Miss Mary Wadsworth.

Sock Inspection—Mrs. David W. Reid, chairman, Mrs. W. A. Bancroft, Mrs. W. T. Capps, Miss S. Maria Fairbank, Mrs. J. W. Clary, Miss Mayme Dobbins, Miss Elizabeth Bergschneider, Miss Lydia Hatfield, Mrs. James McBride, Miss Leah Cassell.

Associate Workers—Mrs. F. S. Hayden, Mrs. W. F. Brown.

Teachers—Mrs. J. W. Lowdermilk, Mrs. George Harney, Mrs. Sarah J. McFalls, Mrs. W. D. Mathers, Miss Margaret Clampit, Mrs. E. E. Hatfield, Miss Alice Phillips, Mrs. T. P. Laning, Mrs. M. F. Dunlap, Mrs. John R. Davis, Mrs. H. H. Bancroft, Miss Gertrude Ayers, Mrs. Eugene Keefe.

Children's work—Miss Esther Davis, Miss Helen Allcott.

TRINITY CHURCH WALLS WILL RISE AGAIN

Extensive Plans for Military Benefit Ball to be Given April 5th—Proceeds for Building Fund.

On Friday evening, April 5, in the gymnasium of Illinois College a military ball and patriotic party will be given for the benefit of Trinity Church recently destroyed by fire.

Extensive preparations are being made to make the old gymnasium beautiful with the national colors and the flags of all our allies. Randall's orchestra will furnish not only the music for the dances, but the accompaniment for the patrioitc songs which will resound thru the lofty room. Everyone is invited.

For those who do not care to dance there will be fitted up cosy corners where they may knit socks for our boys at the front or make Layettes for the Belgian babies. Equally comfortable quarters will be set aside for the men where they may discuss the issues of the war and confirm their faith in the ultimate success of our arms.

Experience in England and France has shown that this is not the time for pessimism and long-drawn faces. And besides by April 5, we hope that our gallant boys, together with the heroic English and French will have crumpled up the legions of the heinous Hun.

The ball is under the general management of Mrs. J. Thompson Sharpe assisted by Mesdames Andrew Russel, J. G. Ames and George Matthews. Other committees which insure the success of the ball are as follows:

Ticket Committee—Mrs. Lloyd Brown, Mrs. C. W. Brown, Miss Verna Wallace.

WOMAN SAVED MUCH SUFFERING

By taking Friend's Advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

West Plains, Mo.—"I was all run down in health, had indigestion and terrible cramps every month so I was unable to do anything. I had tried every doctor in West Plains, also every remedy I could think of, without relief. One day when I was suffering greatly a friend was at my house and said, 'Why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' So I did, and through it, I found relief from my suffering and I really believe it saved my life. It does not seem as though I can say enough in praise of this wonderful medicine for the health it has brought me."—Miss CORA LEE HALL, West Plains, Mo.

Perhaps it may seem an extravagant statement to say that this great remedy saved a life; but women like Mrs. Hall, to whom it has brought health, appreciate the danger and suffering they have escaped too well to doubt it! All who suffer should try it. Why risk life and health without it?

Meredosia, March 29.—The Good Roads Booster club meeting at the city hall Monday evening was largely attended by citizens of this place and surrounding country. The meeting was called to order by the chairman, John E. Hall, and the object of the meeting stated which was to complete the arrangements for a trail to be marked from Chapin to this place and committees appointed to arrange for oiling the same. The club has received much encouragement from those on the opposite side of the river that the movement will be taken up and efforts made to extend the trail to Quincy via Versailles and Mt. Sterling. The committees appointed at this meeting got busy at once and no doubt the oiled trail from Jacksonville to Meredosia will soon be a reality. This is a move in the right direction and should be boosted by everyone along the line.

A CHILD'S TONGUE SHOWS IF LIVER OR BOWELS ARE ACTIVE

If Cross, Feverish, Sick, Bilious, Give Fruit Laxative At Once

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomachache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."—Adv.

Our boys are defending this country on the high seas and on the land. Our own defense against a common enemy is to keep the system clean by ridding the body of the toxins, or poisons, which are bred in the intestines. When you feel tired, sleepy, headachy, when your breath is offensive, or pimples appear on the face and neck, it is time to recognize the danger and protect your bodily health by taking something for the liver, such as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

The machinery of the body needs to be oiled, kept in good condition, just as the guns or machinery of a ship. Why should a human person neglect his own machinery more than that of his automobile or his guns? Yet most people do neglect themselves. Their tongue has a dark brown color, skin sallow, breath bad, yet they fail to see that their machinery needs attention.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets have been known for nearly half a century. They are made of May-apple, leaves of aloe and jalap, made into a tiny pellet and coated with sugar. They are standard and efficacious. You can obtain them at any drug store in vials for twenty-five cents. Ask for Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets—and get no other!

Why We Say that THOMAS A. EDISON Has Truly Created a New Art

OUR generation has witnessed the birth of two new arts, one the silent drama of the screen, the other Music's Re-Creation as achieved by the New Edison.

The Re-Creation of music is not only a new art but it is utterly different from all other arts. Painting, sculpture, literature, the drama; all these imitate and interpret life. But life—the living voice—is actually Re-Created by

The New Edison

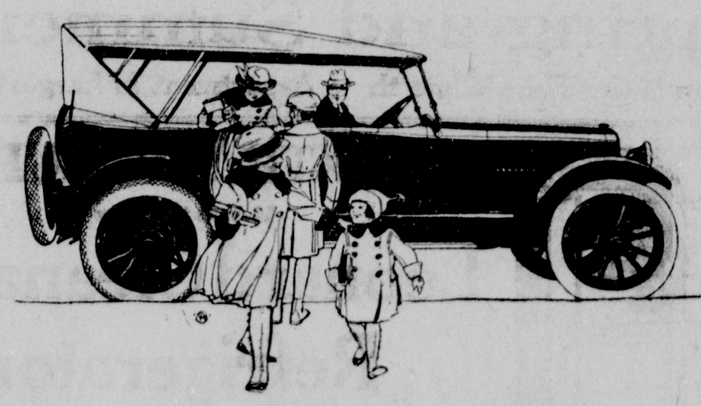

"The Phonograph with a Soul"

It is not an imitation nor yet an interpretation. It is a Re-Creation; so complete and satisfying that no human ear can detect a shade of difference between artist and instrument.

The famous tone tests in which 30 great artists have sung in direct comparison with the New Edison have established the truth of this assertion. Over 1,500 of these tests have been held; over 2,000,000 people have attended them. And invariably the New Edison met the ordeal successfully. Not one person could distinguish between the voice of the artist and that of the instrument.

Come into our store and witness a demonstration of this marvelous instrument.

The Mark of Merit

"There's a proud modesty in merit; averse from asking, and resolved to pay ten times the gifts it asks." It is this air of proud modesty that impresses and grips you instantly when you meet the Lexington—whether it be in the metropolitan atmosphere of the boulevard or the sylvian setting of the country drive.

Surely the best evidence of real merit is the cordial recognition of it at all times—and it is just such recognition that is universally accorded to the car that bears the name of Lexington: a mark of honest merit.

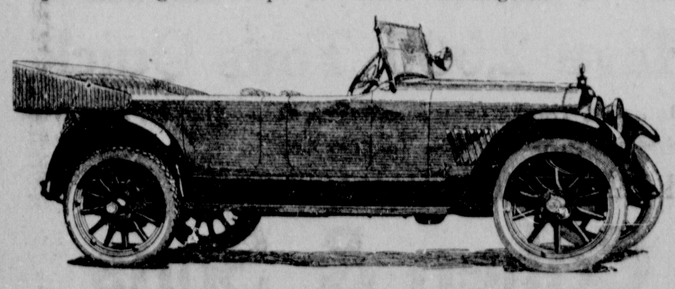

Back of this mark of merit are many features that appeal to the man who knows motor car values. There is the new type propeller shaft, with non-metallic universal joints that require no lubrication. These joints are composed of three fabric discs that furnish a cushioned connection between the engine and the rear axle, and in which there is absolutely no lost motion.

Result: Positive and quiet transmission of power.

There is the new-type transmission and clutch, so silent and smooth in operation that the car glides away like an electric. The speedometer and tire pump gears are contained in the transmission case where they are free from dirt, and noiseless.

Then there is the new-type emergency hand brake that can be operated with one finger, and brings the car to a quick but gentle stop. It acts on a large drum mounted on the front universal joint just back of the transmission, where it is fully protected from the elements but readily adjusted.

When you have opportunity to investigate the numerous advances incorporated in this advanced car, then only will you appreciate the true significance of that name of merit—Lexington.

ILLINOIS COLLEGE AND HER SOLDIERS OF CIVIL WAR

Address of E. Bentley Hamilton Before Chicago Society of Illinois College at Chicago.

(Illinois College Rambler)

The total number of men who enlisted from Illinois College according to my investigation is 209. This number of course, includes many who had graduated or left college before Ft. Sumpter was fired upon. It includes also fifteen who entered Illinois College after the conclusion of the war, the names of the latter being as follows:

In Phi Alpha

Wm. Henry Cutler who served in the 148th Indiana Inf

John M. Dod who served in the 2nd Mo. Inf.

Frank Doster who served in the 11th Indiana Cavalry.

Chas. H. Ethel, Captain 11th Mo. Inf.

Thomas Hurd, 129th Ill. Vol. Inf.

Julian P. Lippincott, 145th Illinois Inf.

Frederick Remann, 143rd Ill. Inf.

John Anthony Shippey, 18th Ill. Inf.

Edward P. Vail, 18th Ill. Inf.

In Sigma Pi

George W. Bailey, U. S. Signal Corps.

James D. Masters, 145th Ill. Inf.

Wm. D. McCormick, 145th Ill. Inf.

Joseph A. Meek, 40th Mo. Vol. Inf.

James S. Meek, 40th Mo. Vol. Inf.

John G. Morrison, 101st Ill. Vol. Inf.

The total of 209 includes 111 from the membership of the Phi Alpha, 96 from Sigma Pi and Rufus Crampton Lt. Col. 145th Ill. Inf. and Leonard F. Ross Col. 17th Ill. Inf. who were not members of either society.

It may be of interest to know that 9 from Phi Alpha society were surgeons and 4 from Sigma Pi. The names of those from Phi Alpha are:

Sylvester L. Comer
Wm. H. Finley
Wm. A. Knox
Horace R. Littlefield
George C. McFarland
Wm. B. Price
George S. Smith
Flavel H. Van Eaton
J. L. Wilcox.

Those from Sigma Pi were:

Charles L. Hart
Robert E. Stevenson
Daniel W. Tindall

Samuel Willard who had the rank of Major in the 97th Ill. Vol. Inf.

Two from Phi Alpha society served as musicians, Robert Newton S. Barger in the 73rd Illinois and Chas. Henry Glenn in the 28th Illinois; Wm. Henry Moore also a member of Phi Alpha was a drummer in the 144th Illinois Infantry.

Sigma Pi had two members in the Navy. Chas. H. Goddard Frye who was surgeon's steward and Joseph Baker who was on the Frigate Cumberland.

From Phi Alpha Ephraim N. Dayton appears to have been the only member in the navy.

John Kibbe Lathrop a member of Phi Alpha society served as a nurse at Ft. Donaldson and elsewhere.

Thirty-five members of Phi Alpha society and eighteen members of Sigma Pi attained the rank of Captain or higher which, including those not members of either society, makes a total of 55 Illinois College men who won a captaincy or higher commission.

Sigma Pi, true to her record for having the largest number of 'good boys" in the society, had by far the largest number of chaplains in the army.

In Many Lines of Duty

As further showing the diversity of service rendered by these college men, I would mention George W. Bailey of the Sigma Pi, who served in the United States Signal Corps, Francis V. Eno of Sigma Pi who was a captain on the Staff of General Rosencrans, Wm. B. Edgar of Phi Alpha who enlisted in 140 Illinois and later became a captain on the staff of E. Anson Moore, Quartermaster General of Missouri; Hamilton Gamble, who became a Colonel on the staff of Governor Gamble of Missouri; Volney Hickox of Phi Alpha who became aid de camp to General Hunter; Wm. W. Jones of Phi Alpha who was private secretary to General McClernand. Major Geo. M. McConnell of Phi Alpha who was paymaster with rank of Major, Edward Payson Taylor of Phi Alpha, who was Division Quartermaster on the staffs of General Carr, General Steele and General Camby and Edmund Roberts Wiley, who was Colonel of the 2nd Illinois Infantry, and had the distinction of later being the Colonel of three different colored regiments.

There were four movements on Jackson, Mississippi after May 1863, two of which engaged the United States forces of the District of Vicksburg. In two of them the 17th Army Corps participated and in the one of February 5, 1864 the 11th Illinois led the charge which resulted in the retreat of the Rebels across Pearl River. In one of these engagements, but which one I have been unable to learn, Edward H. Adams, a member of Sigma Pi was killed. His regiment and enlistment are not known.

Illinois furnished six regiments for the Mexican War and by courtesy the numbering of regiments in the war for the Union began with the Seventh Illinois Infantry. This enlisted for three months service and later for three years. In this regiment Henry N. Estabrook and Wm. F. Lewis enlisted and their names are on the honor roll of Sigma Pi society. On February 12, 1862 it embarked for Ft. Donaldson and was in the division commanded by Gen. Lew Wallace, Grant, Logan, Oglesby and McClernand added to the luster of Illinois in that engagement but victory was not attained until four sons of Illinois, Estabrook and Lewis and Fielding W. West of the 7th Illinois Infantry and Timothy Shaw of the 10th Illinois Infantry also of Sigma Pi society had answered with their lives. Keneth McLean another member of that society was killed in the battle of Pea Ridge.

Mabrey G. Greenwood also from Sigma Pi enlisted in the 34th Illinois Infantry. In the sanguinary and desperate engagement at Stone River, Tenn., when 1700 Union troops were killed and over 10,000 were wounded or missing, Mabrey G. Greenwood was killed.

Missouri Chivalry

The 1st Mo. Cavalry by 1863 had won a high reputation as one of the leading fighting cavalry regiments of the Union Army, a reputation which was maintained until the end of the service. Its history is characterized by the frequency of the skirmishes particularly in Missouri and Arkansas and in one of these regiments James T. Marshall, a member of Sigma Pi society was killed. It has been said of this regiment, "The army never saw the buttons on the back of their coats, and many bands of guerrillas and professional bushwhackers as well as organized bodies of rebels had occasion to remember the Ancient 1st Mo." Let us believe that James T. Marshall was one of those who in knowing how to die, but not to retreat, aided his regiment in gaining its enviable reputation. Two other members of Sigma Pi died in hospital either from wounds or illness, Henry S. Eno and James A. Gallagher. Eno attained the rank of captain in the 56th U. S. Infantry and Gallagher's enlistment was the 68th Ill. Infantry which was on duty principally in and about Alexandria, Virginia. Nathaniel P. Montgomery of Phi Alpha enlisted in 103rd Ill. Inf.; was commissioned first lieutenant. He was killed June 27, 1864 in the battle of Kenesaw Mountain. His body still rests beneath the southern pines for it was never recovered but was buried by the confederates.

Virgil Y. Ralston also of Phi Alpha, who was captain of the 16th Illinois Infantry died from wounds in a hospital in St. Louis.

William Lewis English, a member of Phi Alpha society was Colonel of the 101st Illinois and served with distinction. At the end of the of the war he continued in service of First Lieutenant of the 15th U. S. Inf. and was killed in an engagement with the Indians at the Battle of Big Hole. The names upon the Roll of Honor therefore of those who war he continued in service during the civil war were:

Kenneth McLean
Edward H. Adams
Henry N. Estabrook
Mabrey G. Greenwood
Wm. F. Lewis
James T. Marshall
Henry S. Eno
James A. Gallagher
Fielding W. West
Nathaniel P. Montgomery
Virgil Y. Ralston

Six Illinois College men, two of whom were from Sigma Pi and four from Phi Alpha attained the rank of General either during the war or subsequent thereto in recognition of their service.

From Phi Alpha society Wm. DeVore Green attained the rank of General and served on the staff of Gen Steele. John I. Rinaker a lawyer of distinction in civil life was brevetted with the rank of General by Abraham Lincoln.

Henry Yates enlisted in the 106th Illinois Infantry which was the fifth regiment to be recruited out of Logan County alone. He served as Captain, Lieutenant Colonel, and was finally made Brigadier General for meritorious service. He resigned in 1864 on account of disabilities received in the service, his regiment having served in the defense of Jackson, Tenn., against Forrest, at Pine Bluff, Hot Springs, Clarendon and the Siege of Vicksburg.

Elisha B. Hamilton, father of the speaker graduated in 1860; enlisted in 118th Illinois Infantry; served in the army of the Tennessee which is said never to have lost an engagement which lasted over 24 hours; participated in the assault of Chickasaw Bluffs; proceeded with the force under General McClernand to Arkansas Post and took part in a two days fight; was with Sherman on the first attack on Vicksburg; engaged in the Battle of Port Gibson, Champion Hills Black River Bridge and assaults on Vicksburg—the regiment suffering severely in all of these engagements and at Black River Bridge capturing the whole Confederate regiment; in the year 1864 he was in charge of Baton Rouge and was mustered out of the service with 523 of the regiment who remained out of the 820 that enlisted and subsequently was brevetted Brigadier General.

Other Names

From Sigma Pi society Charles E. Lippincott who enlisted in the 33rd Illinois and was also brevetted Brigadier General served with great distinction. John E. Tilson who enlisted in the 10th Illinois had the honor with Captain B. M. Prentiss of receiving the first commissions that were issued by Governor Yates. The 10th Illinois remained under his command until its muster out; it participated in the movements against New Madrid, Isl. No. 10, Corinth, Mission Ridge and in the Sherman campaigns toward Atlanta. On the fall of Atlanta, Gen. Tilson next commanded a brigade of the 17th army corps and received his star as brigadier while on the march to the sea. General Tilson was not only a soldier of renown but a man of letters and leaves an enviable record in his civil life.

It is no idle boast to say that it is doubtful if there is any College in the country whose record is surpassed in the number of men who enlisted and the character of their service. Volumes could be written upon the part they played and the contribution they made to the cause of the Union. Yale University adopted a design prepared by Mr. Henry Bacon, the architect of the Lincoln Memorial at Washington, which provides for the placing of tablets in the corridor leading from the University Quadrangle into Memorial Hall, on which will appear more than 150 Yale names with the following inscription:

To the Men of Yale
Who Gave their Lives in the Civil War
The University
Has Placed this Memorial
That
Their High Devotion
May Live in All Her Sons
And That
The Bonds which now Unite the Land
May Endure.

May we hope that the Sons of Illinois College in recognition of the men, who participated in that struggle, may see fit when the moment seems propitious, to start a campaign for funds to provide a fitting memorial for them which will ever serve as a constant inspiration to the generations who will yet tread the campus of "OLD ILLINOIS."

What the Threads Are For

Every one of the 196,000 threads in the Threaded Rubber Insulation of the Still Better Willard has a definite mission.

Every thread allows free passage to the battery solution. Through this multitude of tiny paths the chemical action which means a good, strong current goes on with perfect freedom.

No insulation ever used has equalled hard rubber in ability to resist every-day wear and tear. No method of conducting current through the hard rubber has the efficiency of the tiny threads. And the combination is found only in the Still Better Willard Battery. Let us tell you more about this insulation and the battery that uses it.

Strive To Have Healthy Skin

Next time you are in a gathering of women note the different conditions apparent in complexion. You will see some filled with blackheads, some dry and rough, some smooth and greasy, some smeared with rouge, some streaked with heavy metallic powders and once in a while you will see one that is a demonstration of intelligence from every point of view. The color is rosy, the skin is clear and smooth, the pores are small and open, the powder does not show on the firm vigorous skin. Every woman can have a good complexion if she will only use a little discretion. If you would acquire real beauty, the beauty of perfect health, you must replenish your worn-out nerves with lecithin, Nature's own nerve restorer, and put into your blood the invigorating iron which Nature intended it to have for health. In most of the modern foods these and other vitalizing elements have been largely eliminated. Yet to be healthy and beautiful the system must have them. They are found in Bio-feren, not only in proper proportions to restore weakened vitality but in such form as the system can best assimilate them.

A treatment of lecithin and iron peptonate as combined in Bio-feren increases the appetite, aids nutrition and invigorates the patient.

And Bio-feren in its pellet form is easy and palatable to take—no liquid iron discoloration of the teeth, no unpleasant taste.

There is no secret or mystery about Bio-feren. Doctors prescribe it regularly because they know exactly what it contains as well as what it will do and they know they could not formulate a better upbuilding tonic.

The action of Bio-feren on the system is so beneficial, we are so sure of its giving you positive health and vigor, providing, of course, there is no serious, chronic ailment such as cancer, tuberculosis, etc., that we only sell it on the condition that you agree to return the empty package and accept a refund of your money unless you are entirely satisfied.

There is no use waiting for health and beauty. It is better to do things today than tomorrow. Go to your physician today—right now—he will advise Bio-feren. Then start taking it at once as he advises or as directions on the package call for. The guarantee protects your money. Interesting booklet may be had for the asking.

Large package $1.00 at all leading druggists or direct if your druggist can not supply you. The Sentanel Remedies Co. Inc. Cincinnati, Ohio.

MAVERICKS

A TOAST.

Here's to the Blue of the windswept North,
When we meet on the fields of France,
May the spark of Grant be with you all
As the Sons of the North advance.

And here's to the Gray of the sunkissed South,
When we meet on the fields of France,
May the spirit of Lee be with you all
As the Sons of the South advance.

And here's to the Blue and Gray as One,
When we meet on the fields of France,
May the spirit of God be with us all
As the Sons of the Flag advance.

The Senate Committee of Military affairs last week took cognizance of the Official Bulletin published down at Washington under the direction of one, George Creel. It seems that Mr. Creel was preparing to send out information to the newspapers of the country telling of the large number of air craft sent, or ready to be sent to our forces in France. Senator Wadsworth, calling attention to the fact that testimony showed that only one air plane had been sent, said that such information if published in the papers would be misleading. It probably would if published but practically all of the dope sent out by Mr. Creel's department goes into the waste basket upon receipt.

Somebody is always taking the joy out of life. The other day we read in the despatches that the fuel administration had fixed the price of coal in this zone. Instructions For War Gardens.

Everybody should put in a war garden this year. The information herewith is given without charge and probably will be as valuable as some being sent to the newspapers from high brow authorities.

The first essential for a war garden is some ground.

When this is secured it should be spaded.

After this is done the clods should be pulverized and put in condition for planting.

For planting beans, peas and like garden truck the gardener should first make some straight rows as these vegetables are usually planted in that manner.

Then the necessary seed should be secured. In planting care should be taken not to get the beans mixed with onions, and peas with sweet potatoes. However, a discerning gardener may be able to distinguish the difference between the various seeds.

After the seed is planted it should be covered with dirt. The gardener may then sit down and wait until it comes thru the ground.

It will be necessary to hoe all garden truck once in a while to aid the growth and also to keep the weeds down.

Potatoes, radishes, and all things that grow under the ground, should be planted in the dark of the moon and is also is a good plan to plant them in the ground.

Beans and peas may be eaten while green but it is well to cook them first. Potato tops are not good to eat because they are green and tomatoes also must be allowed to ripen before using.

Further instructions about home gardening will appear in this column from time to time.

PRESSURE FROM LONG DECLINES GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 30.—Holders of grain did considerable unloading today and corn closed ¾¢ net lower, oats ooff ⅝¢ to 1⅝@1⅝¢ and provisions down 22@65¢. Corn at first showed strength on prevailing opinions that the war situation was more satisfactory. Pressure from longs, however, soon set in, especially after news became public that the British had withdrawn from Mezieres toward Amiens. Declines which ensued carried the market well below Thursday's closing level, and there was no important upturn.

Despite firmness at the outset, oats underwent a decided setback on improved crop reports.

Gossip that April orders from the government were smaller than the trade had looked for depressed provisions.

A VETERAN QUINTETTE.

The venerable Columbus Hairgrove was remarking with pardonable pride yesterday that there are now in Jacksonville five survivors of Co. D, 101st regiment Ill. Vols. and none is less than 85 years of age. They are, himself, 90 in April; Joseph Hairgrove, 86 in May; Alexander Armstrong, 87 in May; James Hamilton, 89, and Champion Ferguson of whose age Mr. Hairgrove was not quite certain but he thought it was about 85. The company went out under Captain Henry Coffman, who was with them about two years and when they came home Philip Lee was captain and all gave a good account of themselves.

Another remarkable group of veterans was one belonging, the writer thinks, to the 114th Ill. Vols. The late M. V. B. Wyatt was the orderly of the company and he was one of a mess of eight. They went thru the usual vicissitudes of the war; participated in a number of battles and during the whole time not one was wounded enough to go to a hospital and none were sick and their number was unbroken for more than forty years and then they began to go and now not one is left.

The finance committee for Morgan county under the state council of defense completed its organization Saturday afternoon at a meeting held at the Ayers National bank. Dr. Walter E. Spoonts was chosen chairman of the organization and will thus have direct charge of the various patriotic campaigns for funds which of necessity must be carried on in this county during the coming months. At a previous meeting Charles B. Graff was named as treasurer. At the Saturday meeting Dr. Spoonts was authorized to name an executive committee and this committee will include the following: John J. Reeve, H. M. Capps, Judge Owen P. Thompson, H. J. Rodgers, William Batz, Dr. C. H. Rammelkamp and J. W. Walton.

Campaign this Week.

About the first action of the chairman and executive committee will be to choose a permanent secretary. Then speedily headquarters will be opened and a general clearing house thus established for various war time activities. The fact that there has been some delay in the organization of this finance committee has occasioned the situation which now exists with the raising of Morgan county's quota of the war camp recreation fund. The amount assigned to this county is $3,000 and the unpleasant fact is that this is the only county in the state which has not already raised its quota and reported the fact to the state chairman. This is a situation, however, which will be speedily remedied and Dr. Spoonts and the executive committee will have the organization at work this week in raising the fund and before the six days have elapsed the report can be forwarded to the state chairman and made known to the national organization in Washington.

In addition to the raising of this fund it was decided at the meeting Saturday to raise also $2,000 for the general expenses of the various campaigns. The state council of defense, the Red Cross, war savings stamps and other organizations with authority allot to Morgan and other counties certain work to do, but make no provision for bearing the expenses necessarily attached. It is therefore up to each community to raise the necessary money to cover such expenses. These expenses are for clerical work, for certain supplies and postage.

The $2,000 fund as indicated will be to cover the expenses of the various campaigns which will be had in this county for the several funds occasioned by the war. The general plan of finance will be quite similar to that followed out when the fund was raised for the army Y. M. C. A. work. That is, the county will be organized by precincts and certain allotments made to these precincts. The captains and workers in these precincts will therefore be responsible for the amounts allotted to them. The special advantages of having this finance committee and the attendant organization is that a vast amount of work in connection with each campaign will thus be saved. Without such organization it would be necessary for each campaign to be handled separately and the preliminary work of such campaigns really occupies about as much time and labor as the campaign itself occasions.

The purposes of the war community recreation fund are well summed up in the following statement:

This money will make it possible for the soldiers and sailors, during their hours of freedom away from camp life, all those forms of wholesome amusement and recreation to which they have been accustomed at home.

Purpose of Fund.

The Fund among many other features and activities will permit such work as the following:

1. Building of community club houses outside the camps for the soldiers and sailors with all that a club and its social atmosphere mean, including athletic contests, swimming, pool, billiards, reading and writing facilities, and numerous other enjoyable features.

2. Services of trained leaders skilled in community organization and recreation who will devote all their time to organizing the social forces of the communities for the benefit of the men in the camp.

3. Moving picture and theatrical performances.

4. Entertainments at which prominent volunteer artists will be on the stage, and where also the men in the camps will "do their bit" and sing, dance or act for the entertainment of their comrades.

5. Dances, socials, Thanksgiving, Hallowe'en and other appropriate parties.

6. Automobile and trolley trips for sight-seeing or recreation and for convalescent men.

7. Outdoor and indoor athletics of all sorts, baseball, skating, tennis and other games.

8. Home hospitality, with its Sunday dinners, music, pleasant friendships, good cheer, mobilization of church resources and the like. In contributing to provide for the welfare of the American soldier and sailor when he is away from camp in the community on which he must depend for his social life during the hard days of training.

THE SIGNS OF THE TIMES

Rev. Walter E. Spoonts will speak Sunday night on the Signs of the Times as relates to The Chain That is being Forged to Bind Satan. Men are seeking for the light that is shining from the pages of prophecy. No matter how much they disregard the prophecies in former peaceful days, they feel the importance now of finding some ray of hope and light that is beyond the reach of the human. Hence they are turning to the word of God.

In the light of prophecy let us notice the chains that will bind Sastan, this chain has several links. Circumstances which for the time take from us the power to speak or act as we desire, often cause us to exclaim, "My hands are tied," "My tongue was literally tied," etc.

We will call this chain by which Satan is to be bound, a chain of circumstances; and we will name seven of the links of which it is composed:

First link: The coming of Christ the second time. "I will come again," John 14:3. "The Lord Himself shall descend from Heaven... with the voice of the Archangel." I Thes. 4:16.

Second link: The resurrection of the righteous dead. "The trumpet shall sound, and the dead shall be raised." I Cor. 15:52. "The dead in Christ shall rise first." I Thes. 4:16.

Third link: The righteous then living will be changed from mortality to immortality. "The trumpet shall sound...and we shall be changed. For...this mortal must put on immortality." I Cor. 15:52, 53.

Fourth link: The resurrected ones and the "changed" ones, including all the people of God, will be taken away from this world. "Then we which are alive and remain"—that is "unto the coming of the Lord" and the "last trump"—"shall be caught up together with them"—the resurrected ones—"to meet the Lord in the air." I Thes. 4:17.

Fifth link: The glory of Christ and of His angels will cause the death of the wicked. 2 Thes. 2:8; Isa. 2:20, 21; Rev. 6:15-17, etc.

Sixth link: The atmosphere that envelops the earth will pass away, leaving the earth in darkness. Rev. 6:14; Jer. 4:23-29.

Seventh link: The last link will be the flat of the eternal God that the devil shall remain upon this storm-swept, earthquake-rent, blood-soaked, sin-cursed earth for one thousand years, in the darkness of Tartarus—"the impenetrable darkness which surrounds the material universe," "the bottomless pit"—with no one to tempt. During this millennium he will have time, as he walks over the scars and the graves, —yea, as he feels the darkness of his lost and shut-away condition,—to consider the ruin which sin has made through his satanic generalship.

Seven represents completeness. The chain will be complete, with not one weak link.

In the darkness, he will also have time through his knowledge of divine revelation, which he has found to be awfully true, to see the redeemed, whom he has tempted, tried, slain on battle field, and "worn out" sitting on thrones of judgment with the conquering hrist. Rev. 20:4.

TREATY SIGNED BY GERMAN EMPEROR MADE PUBLIC

Sought By Document to Bring About Alliance Between Germany, Russia and France Against Great Britain.

Pettrograd,—(Correspondence of Associated Press)—The text of a secret treaty signed by the German Emperor William, and Emperor Nicholas of Russia in 1905 by which it has been charged the German Emperor sough to bring about an alliance between Germany, Russia and France against Great Britain, was among the secret documents made public by Leon Trotzky, the Foreign Minister of the Bolsheviki government.

This treaty was signed by the two Emperors on board Emperor Nicholas' yact, the Polar Star, off the Island of Bjorke, on the Swedish coast, in August, 1905, it bears the date of August 25. The instrument has been designated as the "Bjorke treaty" and was so referred to by Emperor William.

It was signed while the peace conference which terminated the Russo-Japanese war was in session at Portsmouth, New Hamshire, and provided for a "Defensive Union" between Germany and Russia under which either should come to the aid of the other if attacked by a third Eurpoeon power.

France, then in friendly relations with Great Britain, was to be invited to join this Russo-Germanic alliance after Russia and Japan had signed a peace treaty. It appears, however, that knowledge of the signing of this paper by the two emperors was withheld from France at the request of Emperor William.

The text of the Bjorke treaty as translated and divulged by the Smolny government, reads:

"Polyarnaya Zvedzda" ((Polar Star)

"Bjorke, 24, August, 1905.

"Their Imperial Majesties, the Emperor of All Russia on the one hand and the Emperor of Germany on the other, with a view of insuring the peace of Europe, have agreed to the following points of a treaty regarding a defensive Union:

"Point 1.—Should either of these empires be attacked by any other European power, the ally shall come to its aid in Europe with all its land and naval forces.

Point 2—The contracting parties obligate themselves not to make a seperate peace with the common enemy

"Point 3—The present agreement shall come into force at the signing of a peace between Russia and Japan and shall remain in force until a period, the date of which shall be fixed upon a year in advance.

"Point 4—The Emperor of All Russia, on the coming into force of above treaty, shall take the necessary steps to inform France of said treaty and shall propose that France should join the same as an ally.

PARISIANS VIOLATE NEW LIGHTING REGULATIONS

Fifteen Hundred Prosecutions in Two Days for Breaking of Order —Not Regarded as Wilful Violation.

Paris March.—(Correspoidence of The Associated Press)—Fifteen hundred prosecutions in two days for violations of the new lighting regulations in Paris indicate how difficult it is to darken the "City of Lights."

The general order is that all inside lights shall be masked so as to be invisible from the exterior. No one breaks the rule willfully, certainly unless it is a rare spy here and there, yet lights are visible until a late hour in every direction and the only effective solution now seems to be either the hermetic opaque sealing of windows or the suppression of inside lights.

Curtains have been used everywhere but often they appear to be opaque from the inside only. Sometimes they are so loose that the light shows around the edges and then, through the negligence of servants, or others, they are either partly lowered or partly raised.

On any night since the Gotha raid January 31, perpendicular lines of lights could be seen shining intermittently from numbers of buildings through the windows of the starway or elevator well. Tenants returning home have only to push a button to light these six or seven story signals from which aviators may be sure they are flying over some big town. One of the prisoners who piloted the German machine brought down during the raid said "we found our way easily thanks to the lights of the tall buildings."

The deluge of prosecutions, it is hoped, will finally produce a "darker Paris", but a newspaper man who made a tour of the city last night found not only a respectable number of lights shining from private apartments but an amazing number of violations of the order in public buildings. On the Ile de la Cite more than thirty windows were illuminated in the Palais de Justice, where all appeals from convictions in the lighting cases will be heard. Light was also shining brilliantly from a dozen windows of the prefecture of police from which was issued the orders for darkening the city.

Other public buildings, hospitals, anneres and main buildings of certain ministries were also caught in default while moving lights carried by motor cars, street cars, locomotives of suburban railroads and all other sorts of vehicles made the streets look something like fading glowworms.

PAMPHLET EXPOSES GERMAN INTRIGUE

London, March.—Robinson Smith, one of "Hoover's boys" on the American Committee for Relief in Belgium, has compiled under the title of "Lessons in Kultur" a pamphlet for distributing in English-speaking countries exposing German intrigue and terrorism in the language of the Germans themselves. It aims to be a readty reference to German utterances and activities

Mr. Smith's pamphlet which has been turned over to the British and American propaganda departments, contains about 250 quotations in all alphabetically and chronologically arranged so as to enable one to put his finger at once on any particular case in point. Mr. Smith, in his foreword, suggests that it shows "the line of lies which, the German government hoped, would justify them in a criminal act, whether that act be the violation of a guaranteed neutrality, the extermination of African tribes, the sinking of hospital ships, or a general tyranny, terrorism and intrigue thru the world."

"One lie," Mr. Smith points out, "was the affair of the French airplanes over Nureberg railway lines. The Ems telegram forgery precipitated war between Germany and France in 1870; the lie regarding the airplanes was one of the reasons given by Germany for declaring war on France in 1914. The German Ambassador at Paris so declared to M. Viviani, then French Premier, on August 3; von Jagow gave the same reason to the French Ambassador at Berlin. Yet tthe Cologne Zeitung published on August 3 a telegram from its correspondent at Munich stating that the Bavarian Minister of War 'is doubtful as to the exactness of the news'; and finally the German Medical Review of May 18, 1916, published a letter from the Mayor of Nureberg, stating as to the airplanes 'all the allegations of this kind and all the reports of the journals have been recognized to be false.'"

LIVING EXPENSES IN FRANCE INCREASE

Paris, March—It cost about one hundred per cent more to live in France at the end of 1917 than in 1914, according to statistics attached to a bill recently introduced in the Chamber of Deputies to increase the supplementary pay of non-commissioned officers. Wages have increased 35 per cent for men and 50 per cent for women in the same period.

GERMANS DESTROY SEVEN ENGLISH SHIPPING VESSELS

LONDON, March. — (Correspondence of The Associated Press)—A German victory by which seven armed English fishing vessels were destroyed with a loss of about sixty English lives—the destroyer raid into the English Channel on the night of February 14-15—is described in a statement, from Admiralty sources which gives more details regarding the attack than were sent to America by cable at te time of the raid Commenting on the losses, the statement concludes:

"The night's work counted for a German victory, and had it not been for the wording of the German official communique one would have been tempted to leave it at that True that seven litle fishing craft with a gun in each bow would never make port again, but seven more took their places before the sun was over the horizon on the morrow of the affair."

The primary object of the raid in English opinion, was the destruction of the auxiliary patrol forces on the outpost duty in the Channel. At least ten of Germany's largest and fastest destroyers participated in this "victory." That they returned to their base without being intercepted is attributed to "accurate fore-knawledge of the disposition of the British patrols"—knowledge obtained by aerial reconnaissance.

It was a chosen night—inky darkness upon an area of a thousand square miles of surface. The Germans appear to have operated in pairs, the leader of each two being equipped with a blinding searchlight which it turned upon each victim while the German consorts carried out their work of destruction. From the four quarters they descended simultaneously upon the fishing fleet, pouring two salvos of high explosive shells into each English vessel as they passed by at a distance of fifty yards. There were few misses at this range.

Survivors of this fleet spin yarns of heroism. Deckland Plane, of the Cloverbank, which had been turned into a splintered shambles buried in clouds of steam and rocketing sparks made his way forward to the gun; single handed, almost stupified by the smoke and din, he returned the fire at close range.

Enginemen Ewing and Noble, launching a boat from the blazing Violet May, rescued some of the wounded who had gone into the sea. Then they returned to their vessel, overcame the flames, plugged the shot holes, aided their injured, comforted the dying, dragged the wreckage from the dead and brought the Violett May back to her bases, where she lies as a charred testimonial to the courage of British fishermen in war.

CONDITIONS IN AUSTRIA DESCRIBED AS CHAOTIC

New York, March.—Conditions in Austria which led to the cabinet crisis early in February were described as "chaotic" in copies of the Berlin Vorwaerts received here. The crisis culminated in the resignation of Dr. von Seydler, the Austrian Premier, but the Emperor refused to accept it. Commenting on the Austrian situation the Vorwaerts said that every postponement of the solution of the internal Austrian problems tended only to increase the difficulty of these problems. The crisis, according to Vorwaerts, became acute when the Poles who took advantages of the present political conditions to press their own political desires.

The Poles of Austria demand that the rigat of self-determination apply to all Poles irrespective of political borders; they assert that the only possible solution of the Polish question is the creation of a Poland comprising all Polish sections with an acess to the sea.

DESCRIBES CAPTURE OF GERMAN U-BOAT

Amsterdam, March.—A Dutch newspaper prints the story of a German U-Boat which was caught in a British trap and towed into a British port. The story comes from a member of the U-Boat's crew who escaped from England and is interned in Holland.

"We had sighted some English fishing boats off the English coast and were manoeuvering for an attack when their curious movements led us to suspect a trap so we dived. We proceeded slowly but presently the screw began to beat irregularly and the commander could not make out what had happened.

"After about two hours the water seemed curiously still, and the commander decided to come to the surface. When emerged we were alongside a quay where stood a number of smiling British sailors. We were in a British port, towed in like a dead fish."

LABOR AGITATOR GIVEN LIBERTY.

Mexico City, March — Carried from the penitentiary doors by enthusiastic throngs of unionists, Ernesto Velasco, the labor agitator and unionist sentenced to twenty years imprisonment on August 4, 1916, is again at liberty, his sentence having been commuted by President Carranza. It was Velasco who was convicted of being the prime instigator of the general strike in the summer of 1916, which tied up virtually every public utility in the capital for nearly a week.

TRANSYLVANIA LEADER DIES

Jassy, Roumania, March.—The Rumanian government has learned of the death of the Transylvanian leader, Aurel Popovici. At all times prominent among those who upheld Rumania in the Balkans, he attracted general attention in 1906 by his book on the "Breaking up of Austria," which advocated a federal Austria, comprising sixteen autonomous national provinces. At the outbreak of war Popovici went to Switzerland.

COMMANDER OF GERMAN SEA RAIDER CAPTURED

Count Felix von Luckner Reinterned at Wellington After Escape From Internment Camp in New Zealand—Is DeScribed as "Good Sport."

Auckland, New Zealand, March.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Count Felix von Luckner, former commander of the daring German sea-raider, Seeadler who for seven months roamed the Atlantic and Pacific oceans sinking, according to his own claim, twenty-five Entente merchantmen, has been recaptured and reinterned at Wellington after an audacious escape from an internment camp here. In their flight, the Count and eleven other German prisoners commandeered a launch, captured the sailing scow Moa and forced the scow's captain, William Bourke and his crew of five men to help sail her to the Kermadec group of islands six hundred miles north of New Zealand. There they helped themselves to stores placed there for the use of shipwreced crews, put to sea again but were over-hauled by an armed New Zealand steamer in pursuit of them and were obliged to surrender.

Von Luckner and some member of the crew of the Seeadler had been interned in the Motuihi Island internment camp in Auckland harbor. Two of the German sailors got possession of the launch, Pearl, early in December, and took on board von Luckner and the other Germans. They had been making plans for the escape for three weeks and had provided themselves with a rough chart and a crude but workable sextant. They had also improvised bombs and von Luckner had $600 in English money and a hand painted German flag.

Having escaped from Auckland harbor the Germans ran the launch to Mercury Bay where they held up the Moa. The launch was flying the new Zealand flag and when a man in uniform waved his hand, Captain Bourke had the scow stopped without the slightest suspicion that his vessel was about to be captured by German fugitives.

Brandishing bombs, the Germans boarded the scow, surprising Bourke and his crew took possession of the Moa, hauled down her flag and ran up the German flag.

The Germans evicted the New Zealanders from their quarters and compelled them to aid in navigating the Moa to the Kermadec Islands and in the subsequent cruise until until they were recaptured.

Captain Bourke describes Count von Luckner as "a good sport". When the Moa was seized by the Germans, Captain Bourke remarked that it was "darned hard luck," and four days later, when the Count was again made a prisoner, he turned to Bourke and smilingly observed "hard luck, eh?"

Ancon, Canal Zone, March.—Military officers here lately have been entertained by a story told them by a negro resident of the Canal Zone, who said he had a fantastic vision in which a beautiful woman warned him that 143 persons were planning to destroy the Panama Canal. The officers welcomed this diversion from their otherwise wearying vigils.

"THE EYES OF THE WORLD"

To the thousands of book readers who know the tense dramatic interest and deep emotional thrill o Harold Bell Wright's famous story of love and adventure, "The Eyes of the World" it will be welcome news that a magnificent motion picture production of this romance in seven reels, which Cline has just completed, will be seen here at the Grand Monday and Tuesday.

The book, as is well known, has enjoyed an immense popularity, having been read, according to the publishers, by more than 4,000,000 people, but the film spectacle created from it is declared to surpass the written version in every way.

The Jacksonville Candy Co. is getting in some new show cases.

BIGGEST DAY FOR THRIFT STAMPS.

Saturday was a record breaking day for War Savings and Thrift Stamps, according to statement made last night by Postmaster Ralph I. Dunlap. The sales for the day totaled $7,382.01. Sales made included 1,784 War Savings certificates and 481 Thrift stamps. The unusual activity was largely due to interest created by the Maximum War Savings club of which F. J. Waddell is the chairman, and another factor is the greater interest in war affairs this week because of the somewhat unfavorable reports from abroad. Some additional facts with reference to Morgan county's record in Thrift Stamps and certificates appear in another column.

London, March.—The Chancellor of the Exchequer announced in the Commons yesterday that since January the floating debt had been reduced by about £38,000,000 largely out of the proceeds of the national war bonds. This system of continuous borrowing had been adopted by him as a substitute for a loan and he had every hope that it would be successful.

TO PROSECUTE LIQUOR CASES TO LIMIT

Attorney General Brundage Makes Statement Concerning Law Enforcement Cases Begun in This City.

Referring to recent arrests in Jacksonville on bootlegging charges, Attorney General Edward J. Brundage, yesterday made the following statement:

"The unlawful sale of liquor, or as it is commonly called, 'bootlegging,' has become quite prevalent thru dry territory.

"At the request of the Sheriff and the States' Attorney, who found it extremely difficult to gather the evidence because of their deputies being known, I have sent investigators into Jacksonville and procured evidence which justifies the holding of a number of person to the grand jury.

"We will not rest content with instituting criminal prosecutions but will also adopt other means which have proved successful elsewhere or effectually ending the nuisance,—the action today is but the forerunner."

WAR SAVINGS QUOTA GIVEN BY PRECINCTS

CHAIRMAN WEBER RECEIVES RECORD OF ILLINOIS

Morgan County Stands Twenty-First in List of Counties—Quota Issued For Several Divisions—Place in First Six is Goal.

The following letter received by Carl H. Weber, chairman of the Morgan County War Savings Committee from Martin A. Ryerson, State Director, gives the standing of the County on the basis of War Savings Stamps and Thrift Stamps sold in relation to the quota.

The members of the County Committee will meet at the Headquarters Monday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock to consider ways and means of pushing the county further to the top, as they feel that while the showing at present is a creditable one, the reputation of Morgan County demands that it be placed in the first half dozen on the list.

Chicago, Ill., March 28, 1918.

Mr. Carl H. Weber,
County Chairman,
Jacksonville, Ill.

My dear Mr. Weber:

Complete returns of sales to March 1, 1918, are now available from every county in Illinois.

Morgan county, with a quota of $688,400.00, shows total sales of $60,660.25. This is nine per cent of your quota, or approximately $1.80 per capita, and your county ranks as No. 21.

While this shows per capita sales well above the average for the state, we think you will agree that it indicates, also, the need for more strenuous efforts upon the part of your local organization.

We appreciate, of course, that the campaign has been delayed by weather conditions, and we have no doubt the sales for March will show a very considerable increase.

You will find in today's Bulletin, a table showing the degree of success which each county has attained. We would suggest that you call this to the attention of your workers, and have it published in your local papers.

With best wishes for your continued success in the campaign, we remain,

Very truly yours,
War Savings Committee for Illinois.
Martin A. Ryerson,
State Director.
By Shailer Mathews,
Secretary.

Precinct Quotas Assigned

Since having received the official quota for the county in the sale of War Savings Stamps, Chairman Weber has fixed the quotas for the various precincts in the county.

These quotas are based on the population of the precincts, and the amount fixed is approximately $20. for each man, woman and child in the precinct.

Records are kept of the Stamps sold in the county and each precinct will receive credit for the sales made during the year. Some of the localities have done excellent work to date, but others will have to put forth more strenuous efforts in order to come out "over the top."

The precincts and quotas follow:

Precinct	Quota
Alexander	$ 22,000
Arcadia	12,000
Centerville	10,000
Chapin	24,000
Concord	22,000
Franklin	36,000
Literberry	12,000
Lynnville	10,000
Markham	8,000
Meredosia	38,000
Nortonville	18,000
Pisgah	14,000
Prentice	14,000
Sinclair	14,000
Waverly	50,000
Woodson	20,000
Jacksonville	380,000

SUPERVISOR OF FOUR MINUTE MEN IN CITY

W. A. Durgin of Chicago Conferred with Rev. M. L. Pontius Saturday—Devotes Entire Time to Advisory Work of Four Minute Men in Illinois—State Chairman George R. Jones May Speak Here.

W. A. Durgin of Chicago was in the city for a few hours Saturday confering with Rev. M. L. Pontius, county chairman of the Four Minute Men organization.

Mr. Durgin is employed by a large electrical house in Chicago which is owned by Samuel Insull of the National Council of Defense. Mr. Insull is giving much of his time and money to promoting government war activities. As indicative of his efforts along these lines he pays personally Mr. Durgin's salary and allows him to devote his entire time to Four Minute Men work.

Having been called to Decatur to confer with the Macon county chairman Mr. Durgin decided to visit Springfield and Jacksonville. He had a pleasant visit with Mr. Pontius and many things were discussed that will prove helpful in the work in Morgan county. Mr. Pontius found Mr. Durgin a man of admirable qualities and one much interested in his work.

Among other things Mr. Durgin said that it might be possible to have George R. Jones, state chairman of the Four Minute Men here for an address at an early date.

In Chicago at the present time are 320 Four Minute Men who speak in some theater in the city each night. There are in the entire country 25,000 Four Minute Men and these men are spreading "Win the War" propaganda in a most effective manner.

There are seven in this city and they speak on Thursday and Saturday evenings at local theaters. The subjects are all of current interest and include the discussion of War Savings Stamps and Liberty Bond campaigns and of home gardens and like subjects.
